4. On 27 February, 26 six-seat jeeps arrived at the Frenzlau unit headquarters from Bautzen. Source learned that they would be used for moving light guns. An increased number of cross-country vehicles was expected to arrive in March. ²
5. A combat firing of all B weapons of the unit was scheduled to take place in the area of Droegheide from 14 to 18 March.
6. The Frenzlau unit and all subordinate units were scheduled to be concentrated in the Droegheide-Torgelow area by 1 April. An advance detail of 280 officers, NCOs and EM was expected to arrive in Droegheide as early as 16 March. ³
7. In mid-March, source learned that the Dienst fuer Deutschland camps under the administration of the unit would soon be reoccupied. Source stated that the camps had not been vacated because this organization was dissolved but rather because most of the Dienst fuer Deutschland personnel were scheduled to be drafted into the KVP. ⁴
